

Service Labels

Service labels, employed by trusted professionals spanning plumbing, electrical, HVAC, and household appliances, facilitate effortless tracking of service dates.

Common Applications/Uses:

- ▶ Service labels remind customers of scheduled maintenance tasks for various systems like HVAC, plumbing, or appliances. Add a QR code for easy appointment scheduling.
- ▶ Labels can include emergency contact information for the service provider, making it easy for customers to reach out in case of sudden breakdowns or emergencies with their systems.
- ▶ By recording service dates on labels, customers can track the history of repairs and maintenance performed on their systems. This information can be valuable when diagnosing recurring issues or planning for future maintenance.
- ▶ Service labels with installation or service dates can serve as proof of maintenance for warranty purposes. This is particularly important for appliances or HVAC systems where regular maintenance may be required to maintain warranty coverage.
